U. S. Steel Increases Prices $6 Ton

Some Firms Call Raise 'Inadequate'; Federal Protest

NEW YORK (UP) — The steel industry went ahead with plans to boost steel prices an average of $6 a ton on Monday despite a storm of protest in Washington.

Steel industry economists staunchly defended the increase as "absolutely necessary" and said the companies could not absorb the wage increase which also becomes effective July 1.

Spokesmen for Republic Steel Corp. in Cleveland and Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. in Pittsburgh termed the price increase "inadequate."

Pittsburgh Steel Co. is expected to announce it is increasing prices today. However, attempts to get a definite answer from a company official were unsuccessful.

U.S. Steel Corp., biggest in the world, got the ball rolling Thursday night. Republic Steel Corp. and Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. followed suit today. Other firms are expected to move shortly.

The price increase, which will add around half a billion dollars to the nation's annual steel bill, may result in a congressional probe of the steel industry's pricing policies and the inflationary spiral in general.

Avery C. Adams, president of J & L, said the increase is "grossly inadequate in so far as covering our total anticipated cost increases is concerned." Republic spokesmen echoed this sentiment.

All items manufactured from steel, from safety pins to locomotives, most likely will reflect the increase.

The price increase, coming just one day after President Eisenhower's renewed plea to industry and labor to practice restraint in price and wage boosts, brought angry comments in Congress.

Called 'Irresponsible'

"Mr. Eisenhower's requests don't seem to have much effect, do they?" Rep. Brent Spence (D-Ky.) said.

House Democratic whip Carl Albert (Okla.) called for an immediate congressional investigation into the "irresponsible" action of U.S. Steel.

Economists said the price increase announced by U.S. Steel was lower than expected, apparently reflecting industry concern over inflation and the possibility of a congressional investigation of its pricing policies.

The price rise goes into effect July 1 the same day that steelworkers get an automatic pay increase under the three-year, no-strike pact signed last August. That contract ended a 34 - day steel strike.

Clifford Hood, president of "Big Steel", said the wage increase will boost the company's labor costs by 21 cents an hour per man. Un-

FIRE DESTROYS DAIRY BARN — A ravaging fire swept through a large dairy barn owned by Isadore Bergstein, of R. D. 2 Belle Vernon, about 8:30 last night. The two-floor structure and all its contents, including machinery, hay and grain, were destroyed. The owner, shown above, said he believes the blaze was caused from an electric spark. Fire companies from Monessen, North Belle Vernon, Belle Vernon, Donora, Fayette City and Webster fought the fire for nearly three hours. Damage was not estimated.

McDonald Says Welfare Reports Should Be Public

PITTSBURGH (UP) — United Steelworkers President David J. McDonald reaffirmed his conviction Thursday that welfare programs should be reported publicly.

He added, however, that management should adhere to the same rules as labor.

McDonald, in a statement to Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), chairman of the U.S. Senate subcommittee on welfare and pension plan legislation, said he could find "no reason" to modify his stand.

The union chief was invited to testify before Kennedy's subcommittee, but previous commitments prevented his appearance. McDonald took his original stand regarding the welfare funds when appearing before the committee in 1955.

"I cannot find one acceptable reason why distinction should be made in the matter of reporting between different classes (union management or jointly operated) of health and welfare plans," he said.

He said, "reasonable" reporting on pension plans, "cannot be described as a burden. There is no implication of dishonesty in reporting," he said.

"To the contrary, there is only the privilege of a trustee to report to his government and to the people, whose money he is spending, on his effectiveness in his handling of the money placed in his trust."

District Woman Hurt in Crash

A Fayette City woman, Betty Snider, 20, was taken to Uniontown Hospital yesterday with bruises of the left arm, ribs and right knee after the car in which she was riding was struck by a truck on Route 51, it was reported today.

Police said the truck driven by Walter Handloser, of R. D., Smithfield, was traveling on the wrong side of the highway when the mishap occurred.

Miss Snider was in a car driven by Beverly Wilson, of Belle Vernon. The latter suffered minor injuries.

Total damage was about $2,800.

New Priests Announced for District Churches

Bishop Hugh L. Lamb, of the Greensburg Roman Catholic Diocese, today announced the transfer of several district priests, effective July 2.

Bishop Lamb also disclosed that the Rev. Andrew Hredzak, former assistant pastor at St. Mary's in Uniontown, has been named pastor of St. Anne's Church, Fellsburg and its mission, Holy Cross, in Webster.

and its mission, Holy Cross, in Webster.

Formerly those two parishes were served by priests from Holy Name Church in Monessen.

The district transfers included:

Rev. Stephen Drab, assistant at Holy Name, Monessen, to St. Mary's, Uniontown;

Rev. Henry Marcinek, assistant at Holy Name, Monessen, to St. Cyril and Methodius, Fairchance;

Rev. Henry Murphy, assistant at St. Sebastian, Belle Vernon, to pastor at St. Albert, Palmer, and its mission in Isabella;

And Rev. Robert Feeney, assistant at St. Joseph's, Uniontown to St. Sebastian, Belle Vernon.

Big Pepsi Plant

McKEES ROCKS, Pa. (UP)—The Pepsi Cola Co. will construct a 2,500,000 plant on an eight-acre site here, it was learned today. The firm will move its Pittsburgh headquarters here following completion of the new facilities next March.

Nickerson Says Air Force Is Influenced in Missile Program

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (UP) — Col. John C. Nickerson Jr. charged today that the Air Force is influenced in its missile program by a private business firm and said sales offices of aircraft companies in Washington are "primarily lobbies."

The Army colonel, court martialed for leaking secrets in his bid to keep the Jupiter missile in his branch of the service, completed his testimony under cross-examination at 10 30 a.m. e.d.t

He had pleaded guilty on 15 counts of failing to safeguard secrets. His testimony and that of supporting witnesses was intended to mitigate his sentence, which could run to 30 years and dismissal.

Nickerson said in conclusion he was "at the mercy" of the 10-member court of generals and colonels and was content to have them judge him. He said he hadn't meant to usurp the court's authority when he remarked to a reporter during the trial that he deserved only a reprimand.

Two tough young Army lawyers had gone back to work on Nickerson at the start of today's session in an effort to switch the focus from his attacks on the Pentagon to his admitted guilt.

They scored against him in cross-examination Thursday. But they were drowned out by the colonel's earlier barrage against the Air Force, airplane manufacturers and even the Army.

Nickerson said all three contributed to Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson's decision last November to place intermediate range ballistics missiles with the Air Force.

Wanted More Hearings

"Secretary Wilson is one of the finest men in the government," Nickerson told Army prosecutor Lt. Col. William C. Barry.

"He arrived at his decision (on what branch should have the missile) only after long consideration. The point is he had listened to the Air Force and Navy for six months and to the Army for two weeks."

Nickerson said his only motive in using secret material in documents sent to "retired generals" and other friends of the Army was to get the facts laid before Wilson so he would change his decision.

But ploddingly, Army trial counsel Barry and Capt. Charles H. Taylor, his 31-year-old assistant with a red crew-cut, worked the case back to its basic but less dramatic reality.

Nickerson had pleaded guilty to 15 counts of failing to safeguard secrets after the Army withdrew more serious spy and perjury charges. He still faces up to 30 years at hard labor, heavy fines and possible dismissal but could get off with a reprimand.

Damage Suits Filed for Two Separate Crashes

Two damage claims were filed in Washington County courts yesterday.

A claim for $221.70 for car damages was entered by Lulu Krasas, of Washington, against Joe Webb, of Donora. She stated her car was struck in the rear by a machine driven by Webb. The alleged accident took place in February, 1955.

In the other claim, more than $5,000 on two counts are asked for injuries alleged to have been received while a passenger in a truck operated by one of the defendants, in a suit filed by Frances C. Ursic and Benedikt Ursic, her husband, Cokeburg, against Elvira Ursic, Cokeburg, and Randolph Lockett, Pricedale.

The accident occurred between 2 and 3 p. m., April 15, 1956, on Route 71 in or near Cokeburg.

It is stated that Frances C. Ursic was a passenger in a truck owned by William Ursic and operated by Elvira Ursic. It is alleged that at the "turn off" for the populated section of Cokeburg, the truck driven by Elvira Ursic, going north, collided with the car of Randolph Lockett, traveling south.

Mrs. Ursick, it was said, was severely injured.

Numbers Raid in Donora Yesterday

State police yesterday confiscated an undisclosed amount of money and numbers books in a raid on Pete's Place at 615 Meldon Ave., Donora.

The proprietor, ePte Guarascio, waived a hearing before Justice of the Peace William McCollum, of Carroll Twp., and was released on $1,000 bond to await the next term of Washington County court, police stated.

American Jets In Flight Over South Korea

SEOUL (UP) — American jet fighters and atomic bombers swept over South Korea today in a morale-building demonstration that underlined U.S. determination to match the Communist military buildup in the north.

Four sleek swept-wing F100 Supersabres flashed over Seoul from the south this morning and were greeted by delighted cheers and happy laughter from Koreans.

Two formations of B57 twin-jet bombers roared over the city this afternoon. The people of this war-scarred city, watching from streets and rooftops, clapped hands and pointed in delight at the groups of three planes each.

High in the sky over the bombers three of the all-weather F100s rolled and flashed their silver wings in the bright sun. They dipped over President Syngman Rhee's mansion on a hillside overlooking the capital and then flashed past to the north.

A few hours before, the Republic of Korea defense ministry lifted the alert over its armed forces which had been in force since last week.

Late Reports of Damage Paint Dismal Picture

LAKE CHARLES, La. (UP) — Hurricane Audrey, in a crushing sweep through the defenseless coastlands of Louisiana and Texas, may have killed as many as 300 persons.

The full extent of the tragedy—Audrey struck the coast Thursday with 105-mile-an-hour winds and was far to the north — was not known until today when reports began to filter in from Cameron, 30 miles south of Lake Charles.

A Lake Charles, La., weather bureau official reported to weather bureau emergency headquarters in Washington that 200 to 300 persons were dead in the vicinity of Cameron and Creole, La.

Capt. Allen Marshall, whose tug was aground at Cameron, reported by radio that 87 persons were dead and 100 to 300 were missing and might be dead.

Eighteen deaths and more than 100 injuries were reported before reports of a major disaster arrived from Cameron.

Sees Town Vanish

Mashall said that during a moment's lull in the storm, he saw Cameron, a town of 950 persons, vanish, except for the courthouse.

Weather bureau officials said they had no confirmation of reports that 1,000 persons may have been killed

Roofs of homes in Lake Charles were ripped off by the storm and from 1,000 to 1,500 houses were flooded by nearly seven inches of rain.

Some 5,000 cattle took refuge on the high ground around Cameron and Creole.

The spokesman reported that the eye of the slow-moving hurricane took about two hours to move over the nearby community of Orange. A hurricane's eye normally takes only an hour to pass a given point. He said no damage reports had been received as yet from Orange

A deputy sheriff at Abbeville, La., said he feared that "quite a few" were killed along the coast of his parish

As the hurricane swept inland Thursday, it wiped out communications. It was almost impossible to telephone to many points in the stricken area today, 24 hours after the hurricane struck.

Marshall, whose tug is aground at Cameron, said:

"Sheriff O. B. Carter consulted a list he had in his hand and counted the names on it. He told me he had 87 dead and another 100 to 300 people who cannot be found and may be dead.

"He also said he has sent out by boat more than 300 people seriously injured or sick".

Sheriff Henry Reid left Lake Charles at 4 a.m. today for Cameron with a cabin cruiser, a flotilla of 21 small boats and two barges loaded with food, rescue equipment and medical supplies.

The only way to Cameron is a river. At last report, not even helicopters could land there.

The victims apparently were

Weir Is Buried Near Steel Town Of Homestead

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Ernest T. Weir, founder and former head of National Steel Corp. who died Wednesday at Philadelphia, was buried today near the steel mill town of Homestead, Pa.

Burial, which was private, followed 10 a.m. e.d.t. funeral services in Trinity Episcopal Cathedral here.

Weir, who also loaned his name to the steel community of Weirton, W. Va., had entered a Philadelphia hospital a week before his death. He had been ailing since mid-January when he suffered a heart attack.

He resigned as board chairman and president of National Steel earlier this year after spending 65 of his 81 years in the steel industry.

Thomas J. Millsop later was named president of the nation's fifth-ranked steel firm, but board members left the position of board chairman open. It is expected that George M. Humphrey will be named board chairman once he leaves President Eisenhower's cabinet as treasury secretary.

Angry Parents Capture Young Speeding Driver

ERIE, Pa. (UP)—A crowd of 150 angry parents captured a teen-aged driver who they said endangered the lives of "dozens" of children by speeding at 70 miles-an-hour through a housing project.

William Rieger, 18, was captured along with three companions when they abandoned their car and attempted to flee on foot from a pursuing motorcycle policeman. Five charges, including speeding and reckless driving, were placed against Rieger.

The chase began when motorcycle patrolman Charles Bowers noticed Rieger's car speeding in the Franklin Terrace housing project

The officer said the youth gunned his car to speeds as high as 70 m.p.h. over narrow, bumpy roads. Dozens of children were playing in the area at the time. On several occasions, Bowers nearly was thrown from his cycle.

Bowers said that when Rieger and the other boys were captured, about 150 parents crowded around them and had to be restrained by police.

Miners' Wives Live Each Day

BLOOMINGDALE, Ohio (UP)—The wives of five miners who cheated death in a collapsed tunnel where they were entombed for 14 hours appeared today to be resigned to "living one day at a time."

Their husbands, who had a dramatic brush with disaster in the Powhatan Coal Co.'s Betsy Mine near here Wednesday, agreed that "once a miner, always a miner." They won't quit their jobs.

The one-day-at-a-time philosophy was the way Mrs. Martin Kovalski described her lot as a miner's wife. Her husband was one of the five men who finally tumbled to freedom out an emergency tunnel bored with a giant auger into the hillside over the mine.

"I never tell Martin what to do," Mrs. Kovalski said. "We're just thankful we're all together again. We are just taking one day at a time."

Mrs. Kovalski, expecting her fifth child was at the mine entrance when her grimy, exhausted husband came out.

The anguish and worry of waiting for word from the rescue crews wracked the women as much, if not more, as the exper-

Dulles Turns Back on 'Communistic' China

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles today rejected with a tone of finality any U.S. recognition of Communist China so long as it is Communist.

But he added that there is hope the United States may eventually have friendly relations with the 600-million people on the China mainland because Communism is a "passing phase."

Dulles delivered a blistering attack on the policies of the Peiping regime and rejected, one by one, all the arguments advanced in favor of U.S. recognition.

"We can confidently base our policies on the assumption that international Communism's rule of strict confirmity is, in China as elsewhere, a passing and not a perpetual phase," he said. "We owe it to ourselves, our Allies and the Chinese people to do all that we can to contribute to that passing."

He also rejected seating Communist China in the United Nations, along with suggestions the United States expand cultural relations or trade with the Red regime.

Dulles detailed this country's China policy in an address prepared for the 40th annual convention of Lions International, a civic organization.

"Internationally," he said, "the Chinese Communist regime does not conform to the practices of civilized nations; does not live up to its international obligations; has not been peaceful in the past, and gives no evidence of being peaceful in the future.

"Its foreign policies are hostile to us and our Asian Allies.

"Under these circumstances it would be folly for us to establish relations with the Chinese Communists which would enhance their ability to hurt us and our friends."

The secretary, however, held out hope that China will throw off the shackles of Communism and "again be able to play a constructive part in the councils of nations."

Convicts Attempt To Escape

WAYMART, Pa. (UP) — State and hospital officials today tried to discover how eight convicts managed to seize an officer of the Farview State Hospital for the Criminal Insane in what they described as an attempt to escape.

Dr. Charles A Judge assistant superintendent of the institution, was held hostage for half an hour Wednesday with a knife and a broken soft drink bottle at his throat.

"I was not afraid at any time" Dr. Judge said of the 30-minute ordeal which ended when he persuaded the prisoners to surrender

"I never reached the point where I thought I had to defend myself," Dr. Judge said

Watching Game

The attempted escape took place following a softball game on the hospital grounds Dr Judge was watching the game when two inmates held the knife and bottle against his neck

Dr. Judge held the men in conversation while guards closed avenues of escape. State police were called

The eight inmates then surrendered.

They were identified as Joseph Haval, 42, and James McDermott, 32, both in for murder, Daniel Lorenzo and his brother, Anthony, and Peter Perez, all serving time for armed robbery; Ronald Scott, 24, of Indiana County, armed robbery; Robert Seybold, 25, of Luzerne County, robbery, and Joseph Crona, 27, of Allegheny County, burglary.

Authorities, continuing their investigation to learn how the convicts managed to obtain the knife, said four more kitchen knives were also missing.

Girard Segregation Case Back in Court

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — The state Supreme Court today sent back to the Philadelphia Orphans Court the case involving admission of two Negro boys to Girard College.

The state tribunal ordered the lower court to take action consistent with the recent decision by the U.S. Supreme Court throwing out a provision of Stephen Girard's will limiting the school to "poor, white, male orphans."

Chief Justice Charles Alvin Jones wrote the 4-2 decision. Justice Herbert B. Cohen did not participate

Justices Michael A. Musmanno and John C Bell Jr., dissented. Musmanno argued that the state Supreme Court should order Negroes admitted to Girard immediately. Bell argued that the case should be sent back to the Orphans' Court with "directions to remove the Board of City Trusts as trustees under the will and to appoint substitute trustees none of whom shall be an officer or employee of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania"

The U. S. Supreme Court upset the will after years of legal skirmishing on the grounds that since the Board of City Trusts is an agency of the state government, the court's 1955 desegregation decision required the admission of Negroes despite the specific wording in Girard's will.

It had been speculated that the Board of City Trusts would relinquish administration of Girard's will and turn it over to a private trustee.

der a rule-of-thumb in the industry, a 40-cent steel price rise is needed to offset each penny rise in employment costs

On this basis, steel prices should have been raised $8 40 a ton.

Disputed by Union

Hood said the wage increase would boost the company's employment costs by 6 per cent to a new all-time high while the price hike averaged only 4 per cent.

A spokesman for the United Steelworkers of America charged that steel industry employment cost figures are too high, that the wage increase will not cost nearly as much as the companies say.

David J. McDonald, USW president was not immediately available for comment on the increase He was traveling from Pittsburgh to Washington

But earlier, McDonald said the July 1 wage increase could be paid by the company still leaving it a 1957 profit of 437-million dollars without a price increase. He said in a June 6 speech that "steel management leads the field in the irresponsibility of its pricing policies"

Hood, in commenting on the over-all picture, said the automatic pay boost and cost-of-living increases which also go into effect on July 1 will boost the company's average hourly employment cost for steelworkers to $3 52, a record high

Costs Increase

He pointed out that between 1940 and 1956, employment costs have gone up 250 per cent. The cost of goods and services purchased by the company, taxes and other items has jumped 325 per cent Steel prices during this period went up only 138 per cent, he said

Hood said the difference between the increase in costs and the increase in prices has been absorbed by the company

The price rise is expected to filter down to the consumer in the form of higher prices. Businessmen in many industries have stated in recent months that they cannot absorb any further increases in operating costs.

Approximately 3,500 pounds of steel are used in making the average automobile The increase,

J&L Acquires Plant in Ohio

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. announced today agreement has been reached on a deal to acquire the Cold Metal Products Co, Youngstown, Ohio.

The operations and business of the Youngstown firm will become the strip steel division of J & L, the nation's fourth largest steel producer.

An agreement between the boards of directors of the two firms is subject to ratification by Cold Metal shareholders at a meeting in Youngstown July 18.

J & L said its strip steel operations will be managed from the present Cold Metal executive offices in Youngstown with Charles M. Beeghley, vice president and general manager of Cold Metal, becoming president of the J&L Strip Steel division.

Trapeze Artist Defies Circus Superstition Jinx

WINSTON-SALEM, N C. (UP)—A blonde trapeze artist followed show business tradition and took her aerial performance act before the crowd Thursday in defiance of the circus superstition that the big top was "jinxed."

Galla Shawn went on with her act despite a near tragedy on Wednesday when she suddenly became faint while balancing on her head on a trapeze 35 feet above the ground, swinging hoops on both hands.

The Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey Circus has been hit by a number of accidents for almost a week now which revived the circus superstition that a jinx came over the big top.

One tiger trainer, Trevor Bale abruptly left the circus after a narrow escape in a cage of cats when the big animals got out of control.

Last Saturday another aerialist, a member of the Nock Trio, fell but escaped injury.

Atomic Device Fails to Fire; Site Is Evacuated

First Mis-firing In Five Years Of Experiments

NEWS NOB, Nev. (UP) — The sixth atomic device of the 1957 test series failed to fire today for unknown reasons.

It was the first mis-firing in five years of nuclear experiments and only the second in the entire history of testing on the Nevada Proving Grounds where 50 previous blasts have been set off.

The Atomic Energy Commission was faced immediately with the problem of choosing a volunteer to climb the 500-foot steel tower and disarm the deadly package at the top of it.

Such a task is fraught with the most extreme danger.

The slightest jar could set off a fission explosion that would vaporize the tower and kick out an all - destructive fireball approximately 500 feet around it.

Evacuate Site

Some 300 observers were stationed at this vantage point called News Nob 14 miles from the detonation site in the Nevada Proving Grounds. But they were ordered evacuated from the site within 15 minutes after the pre-dawn countdown of the minutes and seconds ended in a big nothing.

In the 1952 mis-firing, Dr Jack Clark, assistant test director, volunteered for the disarming assignment—successfully.

Later, he said the experience was "something more than shakey." He had climbed the rungs of a 300-foot tower, 200 feet less than the slender steel web supporting the device that failed at 4:45 a.m. p.d.t. today.

Tense Situation

Maj. Bill Koons, Army public information officer and one of the military observers on News Nob, described the situation among the 300 newsmen and observers as "tense. . .and very interesting."

"Everybody had to keep their dark glasses on and you can't see a thing with them on," he said.

Newsmen having to move about on the site, however, were forced to take off their glasses to see to move about. But they walked backwards with their backs to the bomb site—in case the blast suddenly went off with its blinding flash.

The dark glasses they wore were so dark—4.3 density—that they were opague in bright daylight.

Manu-Mine Records Released to Court in Turnpike Conspiracy

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state continued a detailed examination of Manu-Mine Research and Development Corp. profits received from a 1955 contract with the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission for allegedly "unnecessary" work on the Northeastern Extension.

Dauphin County Judge Homer L. Kreider ordered the firm to comply with a subpena which directed Manu-Mine controller Clyde J. Siegfried to appear in court with financial records of the firm from 1954 through 1956 in the current conspiracy trial.

Chief defense counsel Earl V. Compton challenged the authority of the court to order the records turned over to prosecuion attorneys, but was overruled on a motion for a mistrial, and finally turned the balance sheets and ledgers over to Siegfried for his questioning by the state attorneys.

The financial records traced the firm's rise from a small engineering firm, with an original capital of $5,400 to a multi-million dollar corporation.

Some 25 shares of Manu-Mine stock originally purchased for $100 each by 1955 had increased in value to $46,200 each. President Charles W. Stickler Jr., who started with no salary in 1955 received a salary of $22,000 and a $35,000 bonus.

The firm that year earned $7,679,441 on its turnpike contract, which amounted to over 9 per cent of its income.

Deputy Attorney General Vincent G. Panati had hardly begun his questioning of Siegfried concerning the firm's financial picture when the court adjourned for the day.

He indicated, however, the state will attempt to back up its charge that the firm made a 100 per cent profit on mine-filling work, which mining engineers have testified was "almost wholly unnecessary."

The Commonwealth earlier brought a Harrisburg haberdasher, James A Stewart Jr., to testify that his store issued a $200 gift certificate to Manu - Mine which was later redeemed by suspended commissioner James F. Torrance, Export, one of the defendants.

The state charges that Manu-Mine conspired with top commission officials to swindle $19,509,000 of turnpike funds through the mine-filling project.

State Politics Are Forgotten

WASHINGTON, Pa. (UP) — Pennsylvania Republican and Democratic party leaders buried the political hatchet to honor George I. Bloom, GOP state chairman, at a dinner in his home town.

State Sen. Joseph M Barr, Democratic State chairman was toastmaster for the affair at which several hundred persons gathered Thursday night to praise Bloom for his work on behalf of the Republic of Israel. State Sen. I Stefel, Philadelphia Democrat, presented Bloom with a scroll citing his efforts to raise money for 10,000 trees for Israel.

Senator Barr said that he and Bloom, former administrative assistant to U.S. Sen Edward Martin, had been friends for years but reminded "the flag of truce is just for tonight."

Woman Cited for Halting Bulldozer

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Anna Elizabeth Engle was to be given a hearing today on charges she hampered work on a state project by sitting in front of a bulldozer.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Loenard M. Mendelson filed contempt action against the woman after she allegedly prevented workmen from entering her property in North Fayette Twp. last Wednesday.

Judge Homer S. Brown was to rule in the case today.

Father Picketed

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UP) — Robert Marvin, 27, turned himself in to authorities because his wife and three children picketed the Mishawaka home of his parents Thursday. Marvin had been sought since June 7 for alleged failure to make support payments to his family.

Judge to Rule Today On Race Track Bid

WHEELING, W. Va. (UP) — Federal Judge Harry E. Watkins will rule today on a bid of the Hazel Park Racing Assn. of Detroit for purchase of the Wheeling Down Race Track.

The Hazel Park group submitted a high bid of $1,780,000 for the Wheeling track at a federal auction last Friday. But confirmation of the sale was delayed by Watkins on the request of other prospective purchases who indicated they might submit upset bids.

Watkins ruled at the time, however, that any upset bid would have to be at least $1,958,000—10 per cent above the Hazel Park offer.

Acceptance of the Hazel Park bid would wrap it up for the Detroit group, whose application to operate the track was approved by the state Racing Commission Thursday night.

James V. Ballanca, vice president of the group, told the commission at a hearing yesterday his association planned to turn Wheeling Downs into "the finest track that money and horseflesh can make it." He said it would start with a minimum purse of 1.00 "for the health of the sport and to attract better horses."

Wheeling Downs, under federal receivership the past five years, is being sold by the government to satisfy part of a $3,280,000 income tax claim against its principal owner, William G. (Big Bill) Lias.

Bellanca said his group would form two West Virginia corporations, one holding the property and the other to operate. Hazel Park would own the stock of both.

Wrong Way Speeder

DETROIT (UP)—Ernest Smith, 27, was sentenced to serve 90 days for reckless driving Thursday. A patrolman testified he chased Smith at 50 miles an hour going the wrong way on a one - way street. Smith's car struck four parked autos and smashed into the front of a house.

Negro Member Of Billy Graham 'Crusade Team'

NEW YORK (UP) — Evangelist Billy Graham announced Thursday night that for the first time, a Negro has been appointed a member of his "crusade team."

The North Carolina Baptist minister introduced the Rev. Howard Jones of Cleveland, to a Madison Square Garden audience. The Rev. Mr. Jones will serve as an associate evangelist on Graham's 35-member "team."

Graham later told the United Press that "we consider ourselves most fortunate in having the Rev. Jones with us, as he did a magnificent job conducting revivals in Nigeria, Liberia and other African areas."

Although the 28-year-old Negro minister is only a temporary member of his team, Graham said, "it is possible he will be associated with us in future crusades, both north and south."

He explained that the Rev. Mr. Jones was on leave of absence as pastor of the Smoot Memorial Christian and Missionary Alliance Church in Cleveland.

Taxable Property in State Shows Increase

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Tax Equalization Board today valued the taxable property in Pennsylvania at $30,089,983,000 in 1956, a 4 per cent increase over the previous year.

The market value estimates by the board are used to apportion the state's contributions to the Commonwealth's 2,420 school districts. The board attributed the increase in market value of property holdings in the state primarily to "peak construction activities in recent years."

Philadelphia led the list of counties in taxable property valuations with $6,072,213,000 and Allegheny County ran a close second with $5,414,635,200. Other counties which topped the billion dollar mark in property valuations were Montgomery, $1,900,542,500 and Delaware, $1,775,926,800.

Clearfield County municipalities came the closest to assessing property at market value. Assessment values were 64.6 per cent of market worth in the county. Philadelphia was next with 61.5 per cent.

Centre County communities assessed holdings at only 18.8 per cent of market value—lowest in the state. Elk County was next lowest at 19.2 per cent and York, third, at 20 per cent.

The board said the valuations, district by district, have been sent to county school superintendents and county commissioners and are available for inspection at those offices.

The board's listing of 1956 market values by counties, with assessed valuations in parenthesis, follows:

Allegheny $5,414,635,200 ($2,689,856,853).

Beaver $20,897,400 ($144,850,714).

Bedford $62,592,800 ($18,732,090).

Somerset $119,105,300 ($32,357,591).

Westmoreland $871,998,600 ($221,655,014).

Westmoreland $891,998,600 ($221,936,779).

Youth Killed by Auto in County

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa. (UP)—Ronald Abraham, 10, Kinlock, Pa., died in Citizens General Hospital Thursday night shortly after being struck by a car while crossing Route 366.

Police said the car was driven by Miss Winifred Nale, Route 1, Apollo, Pa., who was hospitalized for shock following the accident.

The boy, raised by relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Gallarico, was also known as Michael Gallarico, police said.

drowned by a storm wave. Until reports began to filter in from Cameron, it had been supposed that the death toll from Audrey was 18.

Deputy Sheriff Sam Mazilly in Lake Charles estimated that 8,000 to 10,000 persons were around Cameron Thursday when Audrey hit.

"Only about half of them are accounted for," he said.

Town Demolished

"There was so much rain and the wind was blowing waves over my boat," Captain Marshall said. "I could hardly see land. Then, in a slack, I looked out and saw the courthouse with nothing between it and me. The town had been demolished."

Marshall was anchored in the Calcasiue River.

"The water went up over the streets of the town," he said. "I could see just piles of lumber where stores and cafes had stood. Everything was down."

Deputy Sheriff Alton Moss at Abbeville, La., said it "seems like quite a few" were killed along the Vermillion Parish coast.

"We have taken 57 survivors off of Pecan Island," he said. "So far we haven't been able to check among them to find out how many are missing."

Cameron had a population of 950. Two nurses and a first aid man left Lake Charles in a sheriff's boat early today for the town.

Lamprey Killer Tests Are Being Kept Secret

By ART UNDERWOOD

CHICAGO (UP) — Painstaking scientific research soon may pay off in the rout of one of the Great Lakes area's ugliest invaders.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service has issued a cautious report on the results of tests of 4,346 chemicals and compounds in search of a poison which will kill sea lampreys but not harm fish.

Two of the chemicals received favorable laboratory reports and are now being field-tested in selected streams.

The Fish and Wildlife Service refused to make any statement on the two lamprey killers until the field tests are complete, possibly next summer, but individual researchers were optimistic.

Fish Not Affected

In the tests the two chemicals killed lamprey larvae but trout fingerlings and young bluegills in the same tanks were unaffected.

Sea lampreys, ugly eel-like creatures with suction cup "suckers," showed up in Lake Huron about 20 years ago.

They spread rapidly through the rest of the Great Lakes although a combination of freezing cold water and the Sault Ste. Marie locks and rapids kept them from Lake Superior for a few years.

The lampreys ruined commercial fishing as they sucked the life out of everything in their path. Damage mounted as they grew in numbers and clogged streams in their annual spring surge to spawning beds.

Trout Harvest Falls

In Lake Michigan, the annual trout harvest fell 6,500,000 pounds in 1946 to 34 pounds in 1955 in the face of the attack.

Canada, the United States and affected states and provinces set up a cooperative study program under the direction of the Great Lakes Fishery Commission, an international body.

The first control project was development of an electric wire to be placed in the mouth of spawning streams to kill the kid-cousins of the conger and morey eels as they attempted to find a nest for their eggs.

In the past few years the commission has placed hundreds of wires (CCT) "with very good results."

Outmoded Policy

THE SUPERINTENDENT of the Monessen School District, Dr. Joseph Pallone, is asking the school board to do something about the status of 16 "substitute" teachers.

These teachers, it seems, have been carried on the payroll as "substitutes" even though they actually are full-time teachers with regular assignments and daily schedules. But as long as they are classified as "substitutes", they can be paid the minimum salary without the annual raises which go to teachers working under contract. And they have no "tenure", which means that they can be dismissed or replaced without cause or advance notice.

The apparent reason for this unusual arrangement, according to Dr. Pallone, is a long-standing local policy against giving permanent contracts to married women.

Dr. Pallone seems to feel that this policy serves no good purpose and that these teachers should either be given contracts or replaced. We agree with the superintendent.

* * *

BY ADHERING to this unique discrimination against married teachers, the school district probably is cutting off its nose to spite its face in many instances. For a teacher who is denied any chance of advancement is not very likely to be interested in improving her professional competence. It is more likely that her chief interest lies in padding out the family income, which is not an unworthy object at all but is hardly conducive to inspired teaching.

In other words, we would not be surprised to learn that the school district in some cases is getting minimum performance for the minimum salaries it is paying these 16 "substitutes".

The school board, it seems to us, should instruct the superintendent to select from this group the teachers he feels would make good permanent additions to the faculty and give them contracts. And the teachers selected should be encouraged to continue professional improvement.

The others should be replaced by teachers who meet the superintendent's standards and are otherwise eligible for permanent tenure.

Whatever good purpose this bias against married women and this euphemistic policy of calling them "substitutes" ever served seems to us to have disappeared.

Timely Warning

PRESIDENT Eisenhower's comments to his news conference on Wednesday about the wage-price spiral, otherwise known as inflation, were both timely and to the point.

He appealed to both business and labor to be moderate in their policies. Business, he said, should limit price increases to the actual necessities of particular situations. And union leaders should try to restrict demands for wage increases to corresponding increases in productivity or to circumstances of demonstrable hardship.

How much effect Mr. Eisenhower's observations will have is doubtful. In their published utterances many business and labor leaders stoutly insist that they are already following the President's ideas and point to the other side as being the offender. Witness the letter in our Peoples Forum today.

But President Eisenhower is probably correct when he warns that inflation, continued long enough, might have serious political effects aside from the economic havoc it always wreaks.

It could, for one thing, stimulate demands for government controls of wages and prices. And these in turn, like most government supervision of private transactions, are socialistic in nature. The President recalled the recent prediction of a Soviet leader that the United States eventually will become a socialist nation.

Prudence and restraint by all the elements of our economy are the best answer to inflation. They are easier to talk about than to practice, but some of the alternatives are not pleasant to think about.

An Anniversary

FIFTY-FIVE years ago today the first copies of The Daily Independent were printed on a small foot-powered press in a little print shop housed in a ramshackle frame building on Schoonmaker Ave. at Fifth St.

It is a little difficult to reconstruct that scene as we sit writing this in an air-conditioned office, getting ready to send the copy to be set into type on an automatically operated Linotype and then printed on a press running at the rate of 20,000 copies an hour. Anyway, we keep trying over the years not to confuse technological improvement with journalistic genius and physical comfort with progress.

We are deeply conscious of both the privileges and the obligations involved in purveying the news to a still-growing audience of readers and perhaps helping them to understand it and think about it. And on this anniversary we pledge ourselves again to be earnest and faithful in that task.

Merry-Go-Round—

Ike-Kishi Arranged Tie Maybe

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — At his "harmony" breakfast with GOP congressmen, President Eisenhower reported that his foursome golf match with Japanese Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi ended in a tie score.

Mr. Pearson

"That sounds like 'customer' golf to me," quipped an unidentified guest.

"Yes, Mr. President," said Rep. George Meader of Michigan, "people may think that you and the Prime Minister weren't trying very hard to win over each other."

"No, it was on the level," grinned Ike. "We were playing a high-low point match and it worked out that way. Sen. Prescott Bush (Conn.) was the Prime Minister's partner and the translator was playing with me."

Ike added that the golf match produced a friendly reaction in the Japanese press.

"One of the Tokyo papers," he said, "pointed out that unfriendly nations may negotiate at a conference table, but only friends play golf with each other."

Ike Paying

The President, as usual, strolled from table to table in the White House dining room, answering questions and trading banter with his GOP guests. Asked to comment on a recent speech by Democrat Rep. Bob Sikes of Florida, in which Sikes humorously suggested that Democrats should have "equal time" with Republicans at the White House breakfasts, Ike responded:

"Look, I'm paying for these meals out of my own pocket. If the Democrats want to come, it's okay with me, provided the government helps me pay the bill. Ask Mr. Sikes what he thinks about that."

Rep. Harry McGregor of Ohio praised the quality of the breakfast bacon, then worked in a commercial for his state.

"I'm taking it for granted that such good bacon as this must have come from Ohio."

"I'm not sure," replied Ike. "However, I do have an Aberdeen Angus heifer from your district. We had a little trouble when she calved recently, but I think she's going to be an extra good one."

Baseball Came First

Sitting in the gallery while Sen. Frank Church (D., Idaho) made his first Senate speech was his 8-year-old son Forrest, a baseball fan who answers to the nickname "Twig."

The boy sat beside the Senator's secretary, Mrs. Ward Hower. Together, they watched other senators swarm over his father to offer congratulations.

"Sure was sensational, wasn't it?" Twig blurted.

"Sure was!" agreed Mrs. Hower.

"Imagine!" enthused the boy. "The Boise Braves made 11 runs in the third inning!"

No FBI Yet

It's hard to believe, but Attorney General Brownell, as of this writing, has not yet ordered the FBI to investigate the big highway scandal in Indiana. This is the scandal where Maurice Hutcheson, head of the Carpenters union, was caught cashing in on land sure to be bought for the federal highway.

Ordinarily, the FBI would be called upon to investigate this immediately. But if you ask the Justice Department whether the FBI is investigating, they will tell you that Attorney General Brownell is evaluating the situation to ascertain what the facts are." Yet federal money is involved. Furthermore, alert Senator Gore of Tennessee, who discovered the scandal, has sent all the facts to Brownell and urged action. Despite this, Brownell is stalling.

It just happens that Maurice Hutcheson and his father, the late Big Bill Hutcheson, long-time czar of the Carpenters union, are among the few labor leaders who have consistently supported the Republicans. In fact, Bill Hutcheson was one of only two Indiana delegates to the GOP convention in Chicago in '52 who voted for Ike.

Furthermore, Elmer (Little Doc) Sherwood, famed Republican lobbyist from Indiana and a power in the American Legion, is a good friend of the Attorney General's. Maybe two and two make four — in politics as well as arithmetic.

One man who didn't listen to the White House during the hectic Hells Canyon debate was Sen. John Sherman Cooper, Republican of Kentucky. Cooper was sitting quietly on the Senate floor listening to the Hells Canyon speeches when a page boy came up to him.

"Senator," he said, "Governor Adams of the White House wants you in booth 1."

The page boy was referring to Sherman Adams, assistant president, and the most vigorous lobbyist for the big utilities in the entire administration.

Senator Cooper courteously went to the telephone. When he came back he listened to the debate further and then cast his vote against the White House.

Governors, Politics and Palaver

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. — You can't stay around at this governors' conference for long without talking politics — national politics, presidential politics, anybody's politics.

Every year the governors from Maine to Guam — only three are absent this year — foregather at some beautiful and comfortable spot in the United States to go through the motions of deliberating an agenda laden with state problems, like how to build better highways and reduce accidents, how to keep schools going 11 months a year, how expanding state business can be better managed.

Mr. Drummond

But this agenda is a convenient device to enable the governors to see each other and do what comes naturally; that is, when one or more gathers with his shadow or a reporter, to talk over who among them will be the 1960 presidential nominee — and mind you they say "we're not running for anything but we're not running away from anything."

Who Asks Whom?

You might suppose that we newspapermen were to blame for it all, egging on these poor governors until they couldn't keep from saying something they shouldn't. Well, honestly, no reporter could plead complete innocense, but here is a trade secret of the whole series of extra-agenda press conferences during the first two days of the conference: 75 per cent were sought by the governors who wanted to arrange to talk with the press and 25 per cent were sought by the reporters who wanted to talk with the governors. Things didn't necessarily emerge any clearer — but they emerged.

Gov. Frank G. Clement of Tennessee, who delivered the keynote speech at the Democratic convention in 1956, made it clear that he was perfectly willing to deliver the acceptance speech in 1960.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, who has never lost one of his five races for the governorship, was prepared to risk losing a presidential race just as soon as possible.

Gov. Goodwin J. Knight of California, who says he hasn't decided to run for anything, seemed — with as little doubt as there is behind a Mickey Mantle home-run — to be warning Sen. William F. Knowland not to louse up California Republicanism by challenging him for the gubernatorial nomination.

There were some who thought that Governor Knight was whistling in the light.

Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, who doesn't mind looking a good eight years younger than his 66, left us all with the impression that he would be in no way put out or over-burdened if the Democratic party, after looking over the whole field of youngsters, should decide that he was the best equipped Democrat to run against any Republican three years hence. And so forth.

One Southern Democratic governor didn't see how his party could possibly resolve its differences over the great civil rights controversy as far as he could see ahead.

One Northern Democratic governor didn't see how his party could possibly win a presidential election without resolving its differences over civil rights.

What disconcerts many Democrats about these statements is that they may both be right. Certainly if the civil rights legislation is ultimately defeated this year, it will be because of Democratic votes, and if it is passed, it will be because of Republican votes.

If this issue between the two parties becomes sharper and clearer, with the Republicans voting increasingly, as they have lately, for civil rights legislation, then any Democratic presidential nominee, whatever his personal views, would carry an almost intolerable handicap into a national campaign.

On the other hand the Democrats continue to be the numerically dominant party and look strong in any foreseeable congressional campaign. It's hard to see how they could take Congress in 1956 and lose it in 1958.

For a period at least, we may have reached this situation — that the Democrats can't win the presidency and the Republicans can't win Congress.

Excuse me now, here comes another governor.

Corporation 'Greed' Blamed for Inflation

To the Editor:

Your editorial "Inflation Dope" — (June 25) is in need of elaboration.

Inflation and all of its effects cannot be placed at the door of the steelworker.

Your statement, "Just where the truth lies in this argument is not easy for the average person to determine. There is plenty of 'expert' testimony and probably sincere conviction on both sides", strikes the writer as an apology for corporate greed. Facts and figures do not support your contention.

For some months, the spokesmen of the steel industry and its hireling press have been conditioning the American public by charging that labor is about to cause another price rise and management is reluctant to raise prices, but is compelled to do so.

'Scapegoat' Needed

A scapegoat had to be found. The steelworkers union and its automatic wage increases, along with the mild schism caused by dissidents in collusion with enemies of the trade union movement, gave further encouragement to spokesmen, such as Blough and Tyson of the United States Steel Corp., in blaming labor for the coming price rise. But they neglected to tell the American public about their own economic shenanigans.

Now, let us look at the record:

1. In 1939, U. S. Steel's profits before taxes were equal to 13 cents for each hour worked by each employe. In 1940 this profit was doubled to 26 cents. The following year, 1941, profits per man-hour climbed to 38.8 cents. By 1947 it reached 42.6 cents. In the recession year of 1949, it went to 60.3 cents. In 1950 it was 85.4 cents. In 1955 another new record was established when profits per man-hour hit $1.38. Last year, despite a strike, it was $1.345. And the latest fantastic report, based on the first three months of 1957, revealed profits of $1.80 for each hour worked by each employe. This amounts to an increase of 1.284 per cent since 1939.

2. It has been reported that 1956 was a good year for U. S. Steel. Its net profit was $348.1 million (second best in its history), a return on net worth of 12.6 per cent (steelworkers get 1 to 3 percent of savings and pay 4 to 6 per cent on mortgage loans). This was considerably above the profits in other recent excellent years such as $222.1 million in 1953 and $215.5 million in 1950.

Profits up 25 pct.

So far in 1957, net profits are at an annual rate of $461.9 million — about 25 per cent higher than in any previous year in the Corporation's history.

3. Reports show that in 1956 U. S. Steel's net profits were $328.1 million. Pretty close to one million dollars profit every day of the year. In 1957 they are at an annual rate of $461.9 million.

4. If the Corporation were to pay this July 1 wage increase which they contracted for last year, instead of forcing its customers to pay for it, the Corporation's net profit for 1957 (based on its current rate of profit) would be over $437 million. Even without raising prices and without obtaining greater output per man-hour, the Corporation is in a position to increase its net profit from $348.1 million in 1956 to $437 million in 1957. The total cost of the wage increase and other benefits which will go into effect on July 1, will amount to less than $51.5 million in 1957.

5. Since the postwar period — that is 1945 — there have been 21 "rounds" of steel price increases. There have been nine "rounds" of wage increases. These price increases have yielded the industry more than $3 in revenue for each $1 of wage increases. This "three-for-one" formula — $3 for greed and $1 for food and clothing spells economic injustice.

Can't Blame Worker

How can the spokesmen of the steel industry place blame on the steelworker and his family? They claim, but can they prove? Are they forced to raise prices?

The steel industry will just not accept the United Steelworkers of America as an integral part of our competitive democracy, but dreams of the day of destruction.

President David J. McDonald's economic philosophy of "Mutual Trusteeship" falls on deaf ears.

Mr. Editor, we as steelworkers, request of you a fair appraisal of our legitimate economic demands and its effect on our economy. We believe that your coverages of meager wage raises are magnified but rapacious profits of the Corporation are minimized or completely surpressed.

Behind The News—

Allied Power Giving Russia Much Anxiety

By CHARLES M. McCANN

Soviet Russia is showing signs of serious anxiety over the nuclear weapons situation.

For one thing, it is hardly likely that unless the Soviet government had been worried it would have accepted, after years of refusal, the principle of aerial inspection to guarantee compliance with any agreement to suspend nuclear weapons tests.

Mr. McCann

Anxiety seemed shown also by the series of dire threats which Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin made to Allied countries if they permitted the establishment of guided missiles bases on their territory.

Gromyko Complains

The latest indication of Soviet anxiety was given on Tuesday by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

Gromyko summoned foreign correspondents in Moscow to his office to complain with unusual bitterness against a statement made by Gen. Lauris Norstad, supreme commander of Atlantic Treaty forces.

It had been disclosed on June 22 that Norstad told a congressional committee that if Russia started a war, the Allied forces could destroy all essential Soviet military targets.

Gromyko said that Norstad's statement was not the "mere raving of a boastful general" but part of a plot to block a disarmament agreement. He complained especially that the statement came at a time when partial agreement on disarmament seemed possible at last.

Gromyko did not mention the fact that Norstad had said that the Allies never would start a war and that he did not think Russia would start one either because of Allied power of retaliation.

Have Good Reason

He did mention the recent statement of Nikita S. Khrushchev, the Soviet Communist leader, that Russia had perfected a hydrogen bomb so powerful that it could not be tested "because neighboring countries might suffer."

The fact is that Russian leaders have good reason to be worried over what might happen in a third world war.

From the Allied viewpoint, the evident Russian anxiety is certainly a good thing.

It is Allied striking power alone that has induced the Soviet government, in a radical departure from its policy of secrecy, to accept the principle of aerial inspection which alone can guarantee compliance with any disarmament agreement.

Jane A. Bost Weds Roger Clingerman

Jane Ann Bost, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Bost, of 1325 Patton Ave., became the bride of Roger Clingerman on Saturday, June 22, in St. Paul Lutheran Church at 2:30 in the afternoon.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Clingerman, of McMahon Ave.

The Rev. Paul Trout, church pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with white gladiolus. White crash lined the church aisle and white satin bows marked the family pews.

Mrs. Margaret Caldwell was soloist and Mrs. Lily Anderson was the organist. Before the ceremony Mrs. Caldwell sang, "I Love Thee" and "Thine Alone" and during the ceremony she sang, "The Lord's Prayer".

Wears Chantilly

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a floor length gown of imported Chantilly lace and tulle. It was trimmed with lace appliques, seed pearls and irridescent sequins. The fitted bodice was styled with a scalloped neckline and short sleeves and the full skirt was in tiers. Her fingertip veil fell from an open crown accented with pearls She wore white gloves and carried an arrangement of white stephanotis and red carnations tied with long streamers. The bridal gown was made by Mrs. Mary Ann Billy, aunt of the bride.

Maid of honor was Sally Kachmarik, who wore a gown of yellow embroidered nylon organdy with a fitted bodice, puffed sleeves and full skirt in tiers. She wore a matching chiffon open crowned picture hat sprinkled with seed pearls. Her flowers were red carnations arranged in a white basket tied with red streamers.

Bridesmaid was Donna Bost, sister of the bride, who was identically attired to the maid of honor.

Matron of honor was Mrs Ralph Zollars, who wore a similar ensemble only in ice blue.

Best man was Bill Read, Jr., and the ushers were Delmar and Roger Frew.

Grandmothers Present

Mrs Bost wore a poudre blue lace dress with white accessories and an orchid corsage. The mother of the bridegroom wore a beige lace dress with white accessories and an orchid corsage. Mrs. Anna Billy, grandmother of the bride, was present wearing a beige and brown dress with white accessories and a white carnation corsage. Mrs. A. Alligon, grandmother of the bridegroom, wore a navy blue ensemble with white accessories and a white carnation corsage.

A reception in the church social rooms followed the ceremony and a tiered wedding cake centered the bridal table. Later friends were received at the Bost home.

When the couple left for Tallahasse, Fla, the bride was wearing a pink silk shantung dress and jacket with white accessories and a white orchid. When they return they will be at home to their friends on Marion Ave.

Both the bride and bridegroom were graduated from Monessen High School and the bridegroom attinded Florida State University for a year. He is now attending the University of Pittsburgh. The bride is employed at the Samuels Motor Express Co. office.

A bachelor party on Thursday evening honored the bridegroom and a rehearsal party was held on Wednesday at Peasant Village. The bride and bridegroom presented the attendants with gifts.

Guests attended the wedding from Oklahoma City, California, Cleveland, Shippinville and area towns.

Monessen Ozarks Need Help, Too

The Monessen Ozarks, who started the Mon Valley League season by winning four straight games, have now slipped all the way to a sixth place tie. Things are so bad, Manager Pappy Johnson may ask league officials for some leniency in signing new players. The Ozarks boss has had trouble lining up nine men for recent games . . . Incidentally Pappy had to catch a game himself the other night even though there are four backstops on the roster. Two were working and the other two just didn't show up . . . George Zuraw, the standout Charleroi Merchant outfielder, is subbing as sports editor of the Charleroi Mail during Johnny Bunardzya's vacation.

* * *

Monessen's Ted Smith, now fighting for Charleroi Hilltop AC, dropped a close split decision the other night to Tom O'Connell, of Pittsburgh, in amateur bouts at Carnegie . . . Incidentally, former Bellmar footballer Sam Sellers is boxing for the Hilltop, too . . . New Eagle's Quinn Park — a baseball diamond for more than a half century — is now almost completely excavated in preparation for a huge coal tipple to serve the U. S. Steel Company's new mine in the area . . . Mike Panich, the Fayette City mound ace, now owns a 7-0 record in Mon Valley League play this season.

Interview Bellmar Cage Prospects

A committee from the Bellmarette Joint School Board is interviewing basketball coaching candidates this week. No hint yet as to who Jack Flora's successor will be. Bellmar also needs a baseball coach and assistant football coach to complete its sports faculty for next season . . . There are also football and basketball coaching vacancies at West Newton High. Reportedly the basketball job will go to Sherman Brizzi, of Webster, if he wants it. Brizzi assisted the retired Stewart Townsend the past several seasons and Towney made it plain that he was grooming him as a successor . . . Imagine those New York Giants, strictly a one-man team, seven games in front of the Pirates and not too awfully far from first place!

The annual Mon Valley League all-star game will be staged on July 6th in Charleroi as part of the community's veterans' week observance. Efforts are being made to secure the Mt. Washington team of the Greater Pittsburgh League as an opponent . . . KDKA-TV newscaster Carl Ide has turned over a check in the amount of $25,450 to the parents of Dick Kadis, the injured Geneva College football player. The money represents contributions sent to Ide over the past six months Incidentally Kadis is still bedfast in an Ohio hospital.

Three MHS Players Won Scoring Honors

Only three Monessen High players have won the Big Six Football Conference scoring title since 1925. Maurice Mathieu captured that honor the past season by scoring 132 points. His Monessen predecessors were Jim Ralston, in 1949, who scored 149 points, and Leon (Pappy) Johnson, in 1941, who scored 54 . . . By the way, the all-time Big Six scoring record is held by Deacon Dan Towler, of Donora. He tallied 152 points back in 1945 . . . A reader asks for the Monessen High basketball records of last season. The Greyhound varsity won 14, lost eight. The Jayvees won 16 of 20 assignments (beating all valley opposition), while the Junior High won nine games and lost nine.

Today's Sports Parade—

Chuck Stopps Top 'Hard Luck' Guy

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP) — Chuck Stobbs of the Washington Senators has to rate as the hard luck guy of the year in sports.

Everything happens to the handsome Washington pitcher and very little of it is good. This season, with a record of one lonesome victory against 12 defeats, it's been so bad that even the sympathetic opposition keeps telling him to "keep your chin up."

Chuck, who has been given a total of 18 runs by Washington in the 12 games he has lost, would just like to dig a hole, crawl in and pull it in after him.

It even has been a source of worry to Chuck's folks. They made a trip from their Norfolk, Va., home recently to see him and his fretting mother asked: "Gracious, son, what seems to be wrong?"

"If I knew, Mom," he told her with a sigh, "I'd sure try to cure it."

Has Pitched Well

Rival hitters will tell you that there's very little wrong with Stobbs. He has pitched well and been Washington's big hope against the top clubs in the league. Chuck doesn't get the easy games. Of his defeats, three came against the Yankees, three against the Red Sox, a trio against the White Sox and two against Detroit.

His lone win was against the Cleveland Indians — after 11 straight setbacks.

Just before the game, Manager Cookie Lavagetto took Chuck aside and pleaded with the 28-year-old lefthander who lives like a Spartan.

"For heavens sake, go out on the town one night and have yourself a ball. Maybe that's what you need."

"Thanks, no," Chuck replied. "With my luck I might walk into a telephone pole."

Started With Boston

A fine high school halfback who, friends say, was one of the best forward passers in scholastic football annals the 6 - foot, 195-pounder turned his back on the gridiron to take a $35,000 bonus from the Boston Red Sox. After three winning seasons he was traded to the White Sox and, after one year was traded to Washington for Mike Fornieles. The following season, 1953, Chuck was laboring miserably.

But Chuck developed a slider, came back for two fair years and then had a poor 4-14 year in 1955.

Yet, this year it's the same old story. His mom wrote him a letter recently and consoled him:

"Well, we still love you."

So does everybody else who knows him in baseball. And it has the hard luck kid of the Senators half out of his mind.

LITTLE LEAGUE RACES TIGHTEN

Lions, Ravens Win In PONY Action

Lions and Ravens continued their two-team race in the PONY League last night by scoring impressive wins.

The Lions nipped dangerous CIO, 6-5, while the Ravens coasted to an easy 1-4 win over the Eagles.

Tony Romasco paced the Lions to their win, pitching steady nine hit ball and contributing a double besides.

The Ravens tallied six times in the first inning then coasted home. Alan Leshor was the winning pitcher.

The Lions now lead the PONY race by a half game. The Ravens are second with CIO a distant third.

The league will be idle now until Monday when the Lions and Ravens will collide head-on.

Both Elks and VFW Upset; Twin Bills On Tap Tonight

Both Little League races tightened considerably as the result of last night's action.

In the National Division, CIO belted the Elks, 3-1, to move into a first place tie.

Over in the American Division, last place Park Service knocked off first place VFW, 5-4, to drag the Vets to within hailing distance of the rest of the league.

In other games, Lions nipped the Legion, 5-4, while Ravens raced in front of Page Local, 8-1, before darkness halted the game.

Karenchak Brilliant

Buster Karenchak pitched a brilliant two-hitter, fanning 12, as CIO topped the Elks. His mound foe, Tom Maatta, permitted just five hits while whiffing ten.

Ed Kilpela and Nick Pehote garnered the only Elk hits.

Ralph Nuzzaci made the circuit tour for the winners.

The fielding gem was turned in by Joe Koget, of the Elks, who nabbled a line drive at his shoe tops to snuff out a CIO rally in the fifth inning.

Dick Kunsa and Harry Junk both stroked doubles to pace the Lions to their 5-4 win over the Legion. Claude Garry checked in with a double and single for the losers.

Bruce Nedrow stopped the hard-hitting Vets on six hits, fanning ten, as Park Service posted a 5-4 win.

Lender Has Two Hits

Tom Lender had two hits for the winners, including a triple. However it was Jim Saxon who delivered the key blow, a single in the sixth inning to drive in the winning run.

For the Vets, Gerald Harter had two safeties in three trips.

The Ravens-Page Local game was halted by darkness after four innings and will be completed at a later date.

Gerald Francia paced the Birds with two singles. Bill Tweardy was the top sticker for the losers, collecting a pair of bingles.

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF

Unsure Grip

One way to judge whether your grip is right is to check it against the prescribed standards. At address, you should be able to look down at your hands and see two knuckles of the left hand and one knuckle of the right hand. The V's, formed by the thumb and first finger of the hands, should form a single line pointing just to the right of your chin.

But here is a more practical test to determine if your grip is right for YOU:

Hit a shot, using what you believe to be your best grip. Bring your hands back to the address position just as they are at the finish of the shot. Are the hands in the same position they were when you began the backswing? If so, your grip is probably right. If not, try making some slight changes, and repeat the test.

Giants Are Surprising League

Rigney Even Hopes For Title

By MILTON RICHMAN

Bill Rigney believes his revived-up Giants can win the pennant, and while he might have been laughed off only a month ago, all the other National League contenders don't consider it such a big joke today.

Truth of the matter is that the Giants, who beat the Cincinnati Redlegs, 7-2, Thursday night, are the hottest club in the majors at the moment. Their record shows: Twelve victories in the last 16 games for a blistering .750 percentage; seven out of 10 victories on the road and five consecutive series won; only 3½ games behind Brooklyn and 6½ out of first place.

The Giants received another shot in the arm Thursday night when southpaw Johnny Antonelli pitched his first complete game since April 30 and checked the hard-hitting Redlegs on six hits. Rain halted the game twice.

Willie Mays hit his 13th homer with one on off loser Don Gross in the first inning, and Whitey Lockman homered off reliever Hershell Freeman in the sixth. The defeat dropped Cincinnati into third place.

Cards Hold Lead

St. Louis held its grip on first place with a 6-4 victory over Philadelphia, while Milwaukee defeated Brooklyn, 2-1, and Pittsburgh pushed the Cubs into the cellar by beating them, 5-4, in 10 innings.

Early Wynn of Cleveland tamed the Yanks, 4-1, but even so the Yanks moved into a tie for the American League lead with Chicago when the Red Sox took a double-header from the White Sox, 8-3 and 9-2. Washington broke a five-game losing streak with a 7-2 decision over Detroit. Baltimore and Kansas City were not scheduled.

Rookie bonus pitcher Von McDaniel of the Cards registered his third straight victory although requiring relief from Hoyt Wilhelm in the eighth. Stan Musial and Ken Boyer each hit two-run homers off loser Jack Sanford. Stan Lopata homered for the Phillies.

Hank Aaron's two-run triple in the eighth inning following Charley Neal's error on a double play ball powered Bob Buhl to his ninth victory, his 11th against the Dodgers in two years, against one defeat. Buhl held the Dodgers to four hits in winning his fifth straight while the Braves collected only five off loser Don Drysdale.

Jim Pendleton's 10th-inning triple scored Frank Thomas from first base for Pittsburgh's winning run. Lanky Nellie King was the winner and Turk Lown the loser after the Cubs had tied the score with a three-run rally in the eighth.

First Shutout of Yanks

Wynn limited the Yankees to four hits in handing them their first shutout of the season. Southpaw Tommy Byrne, who gave up only five hits, yielded Cleveland's first run in the first inning without giving up a hit and then was nicked for another run in the seventh on Dick Williams' single and Bobby Avila's triple.

The Red Sox got to their old nemesis, Jack Harshman, for four runs in the first inning of the opener and then hopped on Billy Pierce for another four-run cluster in the first inning of the nightcap. Ted Lepcio drove in three runs in the first game as Frank Sullivan posted his sixth victory. Frank Malzone's two-run homer highlighted the first inning uprising against Pierce in the second game. Mike Fornieles held the White Sox to seven hits in the finale.

Jim Lemon's hitting and Truman Clevenger's fine relief pitching featured Washington's triumph over Detroit. Lemon singled home the Senators' first run off loser Paul Foytack and clouted his 12th homer in the eighth. Clevenger pitched 3 1-3 hitless innings to save the victory for starter Camilo Pascual.

Pirates Defeat Chicago, 5 to 4, in Ten Innings

CHICAGO (UP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates, who have been getting the worst of it in their many extra inning games, won one Thursday when they defeated the Chicago Cubs, 5-4, in 10 innings.

Jim Pendleton tripled to score Frank Thomas from first base with the winning run.

The hit was Pendleton's third in four trips to the plate. He earlier had doubled, advanced on a fielder's choice and scored on Bob Purkey's sacrifice fly.

The Cubs scored three times in the eighth inning to tie the game.

Nelson King, the fourth Pirate pitcher, hurled the last 1 1-3 innings and was credited with his second victory of the season. Turk Lown took the loss, his third.

Pirate outfielder Roberto Clemente returned to Pittsburgh for an examination at Presbyterian Hospital. He has been complaining since spring training about a back ailment.

Tonight, the Pirates play at Milwaukee. Bob Friend (4-8) was scheduled to start for the Pirates and Warren Spahn (7-5) for the Braces.

Patterson and Jackson to Sign

NEW YORK (UP) — Champion Floyd Patterson and Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson were scheduled to sign formally today for their heavyweight title fight at the Polo Grounds, July 29.

This signing of contracts was a formality because private documents for the 15-rounder had been signed by the managers and promoter Emil Lence on May 24.

Reybon Stubbs Has No Trouble With Dawson

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Reybon Stubbs, Pittsburgh, scored impressively Thursday night to win a unanimous 10-round decision over Warman Dawson, Youngstown, Ohio, at McKee Stadium in nearby Jeannette.

Stubbs, 147, jabbed away at Dawson's left eye and continually pummeled him on the ropes in the fast moving bout. The loser's eye was partially closed from the third round on.

Dawson, 140¾, had his best moments in the final round when he shook Stubbs with a looping right to the jaw.

In an exhibition, welterweight champion Carmen Basilio boxed four-rounds against Lee Owens, Syracuse, N.Y.

Art Mavorga, Youngstown, Ohio, 219, won a split decision in an eight-round bout with Jack Torme, San Francisco, 191.

Preliminaries

Joey Basilio, Canastota, N.Y., 128½ scored a second round technical knockout at 38 seconds against Johnny Sanich, Cleveland, 130.

Joe LaQuarta, Pittsburgh, 175, scored a second round technical knockout at 1:26 against Tim O'Connell, Steubenville, Ohio, 177.

Walter Ingram, Weirton, W. Va., 122, won a unanimous six-round decision over Tony Crispy, Pittsburgh, 125.

Howard Milsap, Lubbock, Tex., 123, scored a technical knockout at the second round at 2:23 against Henry Hickman, Pittsburgh, 137.

Ozarks to Play West Newton Here

Monessen's slipping Ozarks are scheduled to play West Newton tonight at Ninth Street Park.

Since the visitors haven't won a game this season, the Ozarks have high hopes of breaking their current losing streak.

Other games tonight will send Donora to Van Voorhis, New Eagle to Fayette City and Charleroi to Perryopolis.

At the moment, FC enjoys a two and a half game lead over second place Charleroi.

Greaves Favored In Bout Tonight

EDMONTON, Alta. (UP) —Wilf Greaves of Pittsburgh and Edmonton was rated a 7-5 favorite for his 10-round middleweight bout with Jackie Headon, Canada's No. 1 middleweight contender, at Edmonton Gardens tonight.

Graves, former British Empire amateur middleweight champion, was believed to be a little behind Headon in condition. His training was interrupted early this month by the death of his manager, Jake Mintz.

Myfords Nip ULBA, 2 to 1, in City Softball League Action

Myfords stayed in second place in the City Softball League standings last night but not before a real struggle with last place ULBA.

It took eight innings for the Myfords to finally win a 2-1 decision.

Tony Turcaso and Dick Schilling nooked up in a brilliant pitchers' duel. Turcaso allowed four hits, while Schilling gave up six. At one stage in the game, Turcaso retired 14 batters in order.

ULBA opened the scoring in the first inning with a run.

Beeler Swipes Home

And that's the way the count stood until the sixth when veteran Bud Beeler swiped home to tie up the game.

In the eighth inning, the Myfords won on an error, plus singles by Don O'Toole and Dick Cenzo.

Bill Radosh had a triple and single for the winners.

There will be no City League action tonight.

Umpire Receives Leave of Absence

CINCINNATI (UP) — Lynton (Dusty) Boggess, veteran National League umpire, began a two-month leave of absence today due to an "enlargement of the heart" and his place on the staff will be filled by umpire Ed Sudol, purchased from the International League.

Boggess was advised to take a leave of absence by Dr. C. Kenneth Riddle of Cincinnati, who gave him a complete physical examination Wednesday and diagnosed his condition.

Commutation of Sentence Okayed

NORRISTOWN, Pa. (UP) —The State Board of Pardons Thursday recommended the commutation of a life sentence for Earl J. Oberholtzer, 54, of Norristown, convicted in January, 1930, for the murder of his 19-year-old girl friend and his best friend.

The board informed Oberholtzer's attorney that it was acting favorably on his application. It now goes to Gov. George M. Leader for action.

Brotherhood In Recent Meeting

The Brotherhood of Olive Branch Baptist Church met Tuesday at the home of Hugh Gallo. The group discussed the remodeling of the church. A weiner roast featured the session.

Present were the Rev. Henry Frank, Calvin Lynn, Melvin Shupe, George Miller, Ray Lynn and James Patterson.

Capsule Thief Could Be Sorry He Stole It

MIDLAND, Tex. (UP)—Someone in Midland is playing with atomic age death today.

Police, highway patrolmen and sheriff's officers combed this oil rich West Texas city of 21,000 today with geiger counters looking for a small, deadly radioactive capsule stolen from a parked truck Thursday.

The unmarked capsule, nine inches long and an inch and a quarter in diameter is of no value except to a firm like the Western Co., an oil well servicing company from whose truck it was taken.

Police drove through the city Thursday night with a public address system attached to a patrol car, pleading with the person who took the capsule to return it.

The handle, in which the capsule is carried, was also missing. Western Co. authorities did not know if the capsule was already in the handle or if the thief knew enough to place it in the handle.

A mere touch would produce severe burns. Longer contact would mean death.

GOP Seeking Candidate to Oppose Wagner

NEW YORK (UP) — New York Republican leaders Thursday night chose Robert K. Christenberry, hotel executive and former New York state athletic commissioner, to oppose Democrat Robert F. Wagner in the race for mayor next November.

Christenberry, 58, was appointed state athletic commissioner in 1951 by the then governor, Thomas E. Dewey. He is a native of McLemoresville, Tenn., and was a cub reporter on the Washington Herald in the 1920s.

As a hotelman, he headed the Broadway Assn. for 15 years and was known as the "unofficial mayor of Broadway." He was president of the Hotel Astor until two years ago when he assumed the management of the Hotel Ambassador.

Christenberry has never held public office, but he was active in civil defense work during World War II and once served in diplomatic posts in Vladivostok and the Dominican Republic.

Holds Meeting at Gilmer Home

The Plus Ultra Class of Webster Methodist Church met Tuesday at the home of Kay Gilmer. Elizabeth Bryce, acting president, was in charge. She also conducted devotions.

Prayers were offered by Madge Hamilton after which Mrs. Bryce spoke on "Home and Surroundings", a text taken from "Understanding Children". Mrs. Peg Sarber read a letter from a missionary.

The class picnic is planned for July 30 at Monessen City Park. Mrs. Nason will be in charge of devotions, it was announced.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Gilmer. Also present were Catherine Jugan and Mae Martinez.

Town and Country Card Club Meets

The Town and Country Pinochle Club met Wednesday at the home of Marie Hayduk, of Hill St.

Prizes were won by Rose Steiner, Florence McKito, and Helen Revak.

Lunch was served by the hostess assisted by Donna Henderson, Colleen Bucci, Lucy Capacassa, Vivina Novakowich and Alvina Maurer. The next meeting will be held at the home of Vivian Novakowich.

Panama Water Level Is Low

BALBOA, Canal Zone (UP) — The water level in the Panama Canal has fallen to a near-critical low as a result of this year's unprecedented spring drought in the Canal Zone, officials here said today.

The water in Gatun Lake, used as a reservoir for canal operation, has fallen to a level of barely 82 feet, 3 feet below normal and only 8 inches above the all-time record low.

Shipping operators have been warned that draft limits on ore carriers, supertankers and other large vessels will have to be reduced until the lake level returns to 83 feet.

Hypnosis Used in Medicine

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UP)—An unspecialized physician using only hypnosis and suggestion cured nine out of 12 cases of asthma, two out of three cases of eczema, but had no success with one case of warts.

Another unspecialized physician using the same tools did quite as well with asthma and skin conditions, and he also enabled a few of his patients to give up cigarets, including a woman who smoked four packs a day.

Between them, these two tried out hypnosis and suggestion on 161 human beings whose ailments had not yielded to pills or other conventional medical treatment.

Their net conclusion was that hypnotism was a mighty handy tool for a doctor, that it wasn't too difficult to use, and a doctor didn't need to be specialized in psychiatry or anything else to employ it.

They are English doctors. The English generally are more willing to admit being unorthodox than Americans. Their findings and views were published by the British Medical Assn.

Fear of Shocking

In this country, there are a scattering of unspecialized physicians who employ hypnotism now and then on medically recalcitrant patients but they don't report on it because their colleagues might be shocked.

Generally speaking, hypnotism has no standing in general medical practice either here or in Britain but in Britain there is a movement afoot to give it standing. This has the friendly backing of the BMA's technical journal.

"Problem patients" of the general practitioner, said Dr. H. Stewart, are "patients who have gone from consultant to consultant and from out-patient department to out-patient department and have ended with the label 'incurable' or 'functional,' with a regular bottle of medicine or tablets."

He tried out hypnosis and suggestion on 41 such patients and got what he called "cures" in 23. In seven he got "partial cures"; in 11 he failed. His "cures" were largely in the disorders which are known to have a psychological component upon which suggestion might work; his failures were largely in the frankly neurotic disorders.

Dr. A. Fry reported results from 120 patients with assorted but unyielding (to conventional treatment) complaints. Of this number, 57 "fully" inproved, 26 "partially" improved and the remainder were "resistant." He did not use the word "cure".

Conservative In Appraisals

Both doctors were conservative in appraising their results. Stewart said hypnosis was "valuable when other methods have failed." Fry said it was not a panacea "but far more can be done with it than has been supposed."

The BMA also published the academic sanction of Dr. Alexander Kennedy, professor of psychological medicine, University of Edinburgh. He said there was place for a treatment (hypnosis) which could remove physical symptoms bothering people even if the treatment didn't get to the deeply buried states of imnd which caused the symptoms.

"If something is to be done about the enormous number of psychoneurotics who clog the wheels of civilized intercourse, it may be that our therapeutic sights should be lowered, and that we should, for the majority of patients, have a more concrete aim of relieving symptoms and making them more happy and less troublesome to and less dependent on their fellows," he said.

Rebellious Algeria Is 'Pretty Country'

By ARTHUR HIGBEE

TIZI-OUZOU, Algeria (UP) — "Pretty country, this," you remark as the sedan sweeps through the corktree and willow covered hills of the Grand Kabylie.

"Prettiest on earth," agrees the young civil servant fresh from Paris.

This the heartland of the Algerian rebellion against France. These mountains spring up a scant 35 miles east of the modern city of Algiers and stretch 70 miles along the Mediterrancan and 70 miles south toward the Sahara.

They form the wildest, hilliest, poorest, loveliest and most thickly populated region of Algeria. A million Moslems try to scratch a living from its soil. Only 14,000 Europeans are among them.

The Kabyles are an offshoot of the Berbers (meaning barbarians) who inhabited North Africa long before the Arabs swept through with the sword of Islam.

They were never completely pacified and, with the coming of the nationalist uprising, the region boiled into what the French call "full effervescence."

Uses Entire Division

France has an entire division, the 27th Alpine, plus artillery and aviation, in this mountain country to protect the Europeans and the vast majority of Moslems who have not joined the revolt.

You ask an educated Kabyle how the Algerian struggle can be solved.

"I do not know," he replies. "My people are in misery. Most of them are so poor that, quite literally, the only pleasure they can afford is sexual pleasure. Among the uneducated, birth control is an evil. And, as the population increases, so does the misery.

"The French promised us full citizenship, and we never got it. Now many of my people no longer want it.

"Is independence the answer? Perhaps too easy an answer. I think we must have French help to survive.

"For every rebel there are 10 sympathizers, and for every sympathizer 100 neutrals waiting to see which way the wind blows. And what does a villager do when the rebels come and tell him to choose between joining them and having his throat cut?

"Anyway, can the French army stay here forever? And what kind of life is it, being searched at one corner by the military and not knowing whether a rebel knife is going to get you at the next?"

Born In Algeria

Civilian boss of the Grand Kabylie is French Prefect Robert Vignon. He is 47, a career civil servant born in Algeria.

Vignon says the situation is improving, points to a chart on the wall of his air-conditioned office. It lists 26 killed on the French side in April compared to 46 six months ago, 453 killed on the rebel side in April compared to 161 six months ago.

But Vignon would rather talk of life than death, of Moslem village governments and building projects. The Moslems, he says, now run one-fourth of the 161 communes in the Grand Kabylie.

Town and countryside alike are full of government-financed building projects — roads, bridges, schools, hospitals.

"We are building to the limit," Vignon said. "But, as I tell the people, it is no good asking for them if they are going to be destroyed by a few fellagha (outlaws). They must help us to defend them."

The world's first dental school was started in Bainbridge, O., in 1828.

Congress Acts to Offset Decision

WASHINGTON (UP)—The ball rolled in Congress today toward action to offset the Supreme Court's decision opening certain FBI files to defendants in criminal cases.

There were these developments:

—A House judiciary subcommittee Thursday approved 5-0 a bill which went even farther than the administration asked to prevent disclosure of too much information from FBI files.

—Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. went to Capitol Hill today to seek action by a Senate judiciary subcommittee on a similar but milder proposal. The White House Thursday Brownell would urge legislation to "correct loopholes" created by the decision.

—The senior Republican on the House Judiciary Committee proposed that the committee study the effect of a series of recent Supreme Court decisions and draft bills to meet any "serious effects." The Republican, Rep. Kenneth B. Keating (N.Y.), said instead of attacks on the court the "proper response" is a "mature and measured" study of problems raised by its rulings.

In its celebrated Jencks case June 3 the high court held that in certain criminal cases the defendants are entitled to examine FBI reports of informants slated to testify against them. If the government won't surrender the reports it must drop its prosecution.

Critics contended the decision would throw a roadblock in front of the FBI and other agencies charged with law enforcement.

Rep. Donald L. Jackson (R-Calif.) told the House Thursday the court was lending "aid, comfort and assistance" to Communism with its recent string of opinions dealing with individual rights.

A number of members, including Keating, praised Jackson's speech. But Keating called for a study of the court rulings rather than "attacks" on the tribunal and its members.

Flu Toll at 300

NEW DELHI, India (UP)—Asian influenza already has killed at least 300 persons and affected 500,000 more in India, official sources said today. The figures do not include rural areas, for which statistics are unavailable.

Man-made Fog Is Demonstrated

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UP)—Man-made fog that duplicates the real thing in composition, structure and density will be demonstrated for the first time here today.

The artificial fog will be used in a series of tests showing new developments in highway and automotive lighting.

The fog was developed by Charles R. Marsh, associate professor of electrical engineering at Pennsylvania State University. The tests will be directed by the Illuminating Engineering Research Institute of New York City, which for more than three years has been sponsoring studies of visibility in fog.

Dulles Attacks Red China in Speech on Coast

WASHINGTON (UP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles plans to reaffirm U.S. opposition to recognition of Red China in a major West Coast speech today.

Informed sources said he will tell the nation it would be a grave mistake for the United States to establish diplomatic, trade or cultural relations with the Communist government in Peiping under present conditions. He will repeat charges that Red China does not follow practices of civilized nations and shows no sign of changing its ways soon.

Dulles is known to feel that recognition by the United States would enhance Communist China's prestige greatly and thus hurt U.S. allies who are trying to hold the line against Communist expansion in Asia.

Dulles' remarks will be the first major exposition of American policy toward Red China since the Formosa riots during which the American Embassy in Taipei was wrecked by a rampaging anti-American mob. The State Department has been studying all possible information explaining the riot to determine whether there has been any basic change in the attitude of Nationalist Chinese on Formosa toward the United States.

"Just WHY do you call me HEDY?"

Many Fine Treatments Are Available for the Alcoholic

(This is the fourth and last of a series of dispatches on alcoholism.)

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UP) — Tremendous advances in the treatment of alcoholism have been achieved in the last few years. The alcoholic who seeks medical help today has a far brighter prospect of recovery than ever before.

New drugs are responsible for some of this progress. Tranquilizers and "mood lifters" are being widely and successfully used to tide the alcoholic through the agonizing "drying out" stage and to combat the anxieties, tensions and depressions that beset his efforts to remain permanently sober.

The Danish drug antabuse, which creates a violent physical allergy to alcohol, also has proved an effective support of sobriety when properly used.

But the most significant advance, in the opinion of many authorities, has been in the attitude of the medical profession toward alcoholism.

At a meeting at Seattle, Wash., last November, the House of Delegates of the American Medical Assn. officially recognized alcoholism as a "treatable disease." It called on all physicians and general hospitals to accept alcoholics as patients on the same basis as the victims of any other disease.

Some physicians and some hospitals may continue to reject alcoholics as patients. But the AMA appeal already has opened many doors that once were closed to alcoholics, and more will open in the future. The National Council of Alcoholism reports that 3,000 general hospitals now accept alcoholics (compared to less than 100 a decade ago.)

It would be hard to overestimate how much this means to an alcoholic who sincerely wants to stop drinking, but knows he can't do it without help.

No More Inquiries

He no longer has to make surreptitious inquiries about "special" sanitariums and clinics, or brood over the "stigma" of entering a mental hospital. He can go to a regular physician, perhaps his own family doctor, just as he would if his disease were diabetes or tuberculosis.

Once in competent medical hands, he will find that doctors no longer feel — as they once did — that they are largely powerless to help him.

He will be treated not as a drunk to be sobered up, but as a patient who is "sick all over."

When he is fully sober, rested and in reasonably good physical health, he will be ready for psychotherapy. This doesn't necessarily mean months on the analyst's couch, or even a trip to a psychiatrist. A good straight-from-the-shoulder talk with the attending physician may be enough for many patients who have accepted the diagnosis of alcoholism and are really anxious to get well.

The one point which the doctor will try to get across in this talk, above all others, is this:

An alcoholic can "recover" from his addiction — many thousands have — and can go on to live a normal, happy, useful life without alcohol.

But he can never be "cured" in the sense of being able to resume "normal" drinking. His choice now is between permanent, total abstinence — and progressively worse alcoholism which will lead him eventually to madness or death.

Group Of Amateurs

The most effective help he is likely to find during his struggle for permanent sobriety will come from a remarkable group of amateurs who know little about medicine or psychiatry, but everything about alcoholism. They are called Alcoholics Anonymous.

Much has been written about this organization, which now has 5,000 local groups throughout the United States, with a total membership of about 200,000. Its striking successes in helping alcoholics recover have been attributed to many things.

Some are impressed by its emphasis on "staying sober for the next 24 hours" — an approach that enables an alcoholic to face the often-terrifying prospect of permanent sobriety on a day-at-a-time basis. Others say its secret is the understanding, sympathetic, non-moralizing fellowship of others who have been down the road of alcoholism.

The only requirement for membership in AA is "an honest desire to stop drinking."

And the most important fact that a prospective member needs to know about its formula for recovery is: It works.

Pidgin English is a mixture of English, French and Portuguese.

Red Skelton Begins Trip with Ailing Son

WASHINGTON (UP)—The frail son of comedian Red Skelton eagerly set out with his famous father today to see "everything" in Washington as part of a hurry-up trip to view the wonders of the world.

Nine-year-old Richard, who has carrot red hair like his father, is suffering from deadly leukemia.

Red Skelton plans to pack a lifetime of adventures for his young son into less than four months this summer. He and his wife, Georgia, plan to take Richard and his 10-year-old sister, Valentina, to all the places the youngsters have read and dreamed about.

Red and the two children already have toured New York City and Boston. Mrs. Skelton will join the family here before they leave for Mexico City, such places as London, Rome, Paris, and Majorca, Spain.

"The idea of the trip is to show the kids all the wonderful things there are in the world," Red said. "I want them — especially Richard—to learn and see everything there is to see."

Red, who believes in miracles, said that "for the rest, we are in God's hands."

While in New York, the usually indifferent big city folk went out of their way to show their affection. Young Richard took the controls of a streamlined diesel locomotive for a short trip at Grand Central Terminal and also steered a ferry boat on his way to the Statue of Liberty.

Red, Richard and Valentina, who has just as bright red hair as her father and brother, arrived at National Airport here Thursday.

Cigarettes Blamed In Lung Cancer, Britons Told

LONDON (UP)—A British Health Ministry spokesman said today that a major part of the "very great increase in deaths" from lung cancer in males during the past 25 years was caused by smoking—particularly heavy cigarette smoking.

John Vaughan - Morgan, Parliamentary secretary to the Ministry of Health, told the House of Commons in a long-awaited report:

"In their annual report and more particularly in their special review of the subject, the medical research council advised the government that the most reasonable interpretation of the very great increase in deaths from lung cancer in males during the past 25 years was that a major part of it was caused by smoking tobacco, particularly heavy cigarette smoking."

Vaughan - Morgan read the announcement for Health Minister Dennis Vosper who was rushed to Westminster Hospital late Wednesday night for an emergency abdominal operation.

"The government feels," the spokesman said of the cancer-smoking announcement, "that it is right to ensure that this latest authoritative opinion is brought effectively to public notice so that everyone may know the risk involved in smoking."

PUC Authorizes Automatic Signals At RR Crossing

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Public Utility Commission today authorized the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad to increase automatic protection and drop part - time watchmen at its Main St. grade crossing in Evansburg, Butler County.

The railroad will set up gates on the crossing, install a stop signal at Franklin Rd. and sidewalk gates at Harmony Rd. which lead to the intersection, in addition to the automatic flashing signals used now. The work was ordered completed by July 1, next year.

The borough council approved the protection change, but the area's joint school district sought retention of the watchmen who are on duty between 6 a.m. and 10 p.m. daily.

The PUC said the "full complement of modern automatic protection" would be superior to the present system. The commission added the gates and lights would provide a uniform and positive barrier against highway traffic together with increased protection to pedestrians.

Low Bidder on Recreation Area

HARRISBURG (UP)—The General State Authority has received an unofficial low bid of $140,888 for construction of a recreational area at the George B. Stevenson Dam at Sinnemahoning, Cameron County.

Herbert R. Imbt, Inc., State College, submitted the bid Wednesday.

The authority has allocated $180,000 for land and construction of entrance and exit roadways, a bathing beach, a submersible dressing stockade and facilities for boating and fishing.

Couple Files Suit In County Courts

GREENSBURG, Pa. (UP)— A Washington County couple filed suit today for more than $2,500 against a Pittsburgh motorist as a result of highway accident.

Roy and Rena Robison, of West Pike Run Twp, charged a car driven by W. Ray Conway, Pittsburgh, ran through a stop sign at the intersection of Oakford Park Rd. and Route 66 in Hempfield Twp., Westmorland County, on Aug. 5, 1956, hitting the Robison automobile. Mrs. Robison said she suffered a brain concussion and other serious injuries.

Catholics In Poland On March

POZNAN, Poland (UP)—Thousands of Catholic Poles marched in silence through the streets of Poznan today on the first anniversary of the Poznan uprising that shook the Communist world.

It was a mute tribute to the 75 men, women and children who died in rioting against Poland's Stalinist leaders—rioting which led in time to rebellion in Hungary.

Riots in this West Poland industrial city touched off a train of events which saw the return to power of Communist leader Wladyslaw Gomulka and the freeing from prison of Stefan Cardinal Wyszynsky.

Streets Decked

There were reports, but no confirmation, that the Catholic primate himself might lead the procession or take part in the religious rites at the Church of St. Vojczek, several miles from the heart of the city.

The streets were decked with flags and garlands for today's religious ceremonies led by the members of the Catholic hierarchy in the silent parade from St. Dominicus Church, near the town hall, St. Vojczek.

The route of the procession leads past Red Army Square where the rebellion started.

Today was not a public holiday in Poznan, but workers were given permission to attend both the state and church ceremonies this morning. Few were expected to return to work in the afternoon.

Polish authorities banned the sale of liquor in hopes of preventing outbreaks of trouble. Nightclubs and "inappropriate" movies also were closed.

Sons of Italy Reelect Officers

ERIE, Pa. (UP)—The Pennsylvania Sons of Italy reelected Eugene Alessandroni, president judge of Philadelphia's Common Pleas Court, as president Thursday, a post he has held since 1923.

Ernest Biagi, Philadelphia, was reelected recording secretary, a full-time post.

Gov. George M. Leader will address the 500 delegates Saturday night at a banquet in honor of Alessandroni.

Northeast Asia Battered by Rains, Floods

TOKYO (UP)—Torrential rains and floods spawned by Typhoon Virginia battered northeast Asia Thursday and Friday, leaving a trail of at least 86 persons dead and missing in Formosa and Japan.

Virginia died out Friday in the China Sea, but the downpour which followed battered Japan heavily throughout the night.

Reports from Taipei said floods killed 29 persons in Nationalist China and 16 others were missing.

More than 3,000 persons were homeless and about 500 houses destroyed. Twenty-thousand persons were still threatened by the floods in the southern part of Formosa.

Unofficial reports received in Tokyo said floods, landslides, cave-ins, and other accidents resulted from the deluge that killed 30 persons throughout Japan and left 11 missing.

Woman's Club Plans Program For the Season

The program department of the Fayette City Woman's Club held its first meeting to plan for the 1957-58 season.

The meeting was held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. William Hicks with the chairman, Mrs. Vernon Smith, in charge. Preliminary plans call for the opening of the club season on Sept. 16 with a covered dish dinner and an observance of the clubs 10th anniversary. October will be the president's reception.

Other dates set aside were education month in November, the program to be arranged by the program committee. December, annual Christmas party; February, fine arts and April, home department.

The meeting was attended by the president, Mrs. George Troth, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Hicks, Mrs. Edwin Hindmarsh and Mrs. Read Brightwell. Other members of the committee are: Mrs. John Wilson and Mrs. Elmer Russell.

The group will meet again on Tuesday, July 2, at the Hicks home to complete planning. Hostess groups will be named at that time.

Summer School Starts Monday

Summer school at St. Edward's Catholic Church for children from the first to ninth grades, will open Monday morning. The school will be taught by the sisters from the church of the Holy Name of Jesus, Monessen.

Classes will include liturgy, church music, church history, visual education and projects. They will be held daily from 10 a. m. until noon.

Most commercially grown orchids take five or more years to grow from seed.

Methodist Men Plan Activities For the Summer

Plans for two summer activities were made by Methodist Men at the regular meeting Tuesday evening in the church dining room. Dinner was served to 20 members and guests.

The devotional period was in charge of Jasper Hare. The program was in charge of Ray Ermlich. Ermlich introduced Mr. Zimmerman of the Bell Telephone Co., who showed two movies, "Voice Across the Sea." and Arctic Mission".

The business meeting was in charge of the president, Chester Myers. On July 30 the men, with their wives, will hold a picnic at Monessen City Park. On August 23, they will attend a ball game between Cincinnatti and Pittsburgh at Forbes Field.

The next regular dinner meeting of the organization will be held in September.

Annual Picnic At St. Edward's

St. Edward's Catholic Church will hold its annual picnic on Sunday afternoon and evening at St. Edward's Park near Fayette City.

Co-chairmen are John Muzini, Joseph Bolchak, Kay Galia and Stella Kroskie. The treasurers are Stanley Tabor and William Molnar.

Local Teacher Undergoes Surgery

Mrs. James Welch, a teacher in the Fayette City public school, vacationing with her sister in Evanston, Ill., underwent a major operation in the Evanston Hospital Monday morning.

Mrs. Welch entered the hospital on Sunday afternoon. Word received here by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Walter Ridgway, states that her condition is good.

Ike to Spend Long Weekend

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower will spend a long weekend in Gettysburg and celebrate his 41st wedding anniversary there Monday.

The town of Gettysburg also will be observing the 94th anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg this weekend. The President probably will attend the ceremonies Sunday.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President plans to leave for Gettysburg shortly after lunch. Weather permitting, he will fly to his farm. Mrs. Eisenhower will drive up.

The President will come back either Monday night or Tuesday morning.

'HOPABOUT' — BY 1967 — This Hiller Aerial auto, which might be called a "hopabout," will be in use by 1967, according to a prediction in a magazine. Four ducted fans lift it from the back lawn. It will cruise at 60mph in horizonal flight.

Today in Congress—

Senate Clearing Way For Civil Rights Fight

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate rushed action today on President Eisenhower's defense budget to help clear the way for an expected lengthy fight over civil rights.

The Senate Military Appropriations Subcommittee voted late Thursday to restore $971,504,000 of $2,500,000,000 the House clipped from the military budget.

The action gave the President most of the $1,200,000,000 restoration he had said was vital for the country's defense needs.

The Senate Appropriations Committee hoped to stamp its approval on the bill today. It carried $34,534,229,000 to run the armed services for the 12 months beginning July 1.

Chairman Dennis Chavez (D-N.M.) would not tell newsmen how his subcommittee distributed the restored funds among the Army, Navy and Air Force. But committee sources said at least 50c million, or more than half, went to the Air Force.

One reason the Senate pushed for quick action on the bill apparently was to get it out of the way before the civil rights bill comes to the floor. The fight over the rights bill was expected by many to last five to six weeks.

Other congressional news:

Status of Forces: The House Foreign Affairs Committee move to [illegible] status of forces agreements with U.S. allies was aimed at forestalling threats to President Eisenhower's foreign aid program, informed sources said. The committee voted 18 - to - 8 Thursday to direct Eisenhower to deny foreign governments criminal jurisdiction over American military personnel within their borders. Committee sources said the action was taken to prevent the proposal from being tacked onto the aid bill as an amendment.

Postal: Chairman Tom Murray (D-Tenn.) blamed "pressure tactics" by union leaders for the 20-3 vote by which his House Post Office Committee approved a pay increase for 518,000 postal workers. The bill would provide an increase of $546 dollars annually for postal workers. Murray said the committee also would give a pay boost to one million classified federal workers. But Murray predicted the raises will never be enacted into law this year.

Training Center Bidders Revealed

PITTSBURGH (UP) — The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers announced today that Gussy Pompasini, Pittsburgh, was the apparent low bidder for the construction of an Army Reserve Training Center at Punxsutawney.

Pompasini's bid was $224,606, the lowest of nine submitted. The engineers said the work should be completed in 330 days. The bid will be reviewed before the contract is awarded.

The engineers also announced that C. S. Yoder, Uniontown, Pa., was the apparent low bidder for flood protection work on Bear Creek at Friendsville, Md. His bid was $31,333.

2 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Domenica Dalfonso, who died 11 years ago today, June 28, 1946.
Loving memories never die
As years roll on, and days pass by,
Deep in our hearts a memory is kept
Of one we loved and will never forget.
Friends may think we forgot you
When at times we seem to smile,
Little do they know our sorrow
That the smiles hide all the while.
We think of you in silence
No eyes can see us weep
But many silent tears are shed
While others are asleep
A smile a tear, a thought sincere
How often we wish that you were here
Sadly missed by Mr. and Mrs. Ercole Lattanzio and Family.

Walls Are Really Buzzing

DURAND, Mich. (UP)—Mrs. Victor Endean said today she is "hoping someone who would like some bees" will come and get the 10,000 that are buzzing through the walls of her house.

"They've been there since Sunday," Mrs. Endean said, "and we don't quite know what to do about it. We've contacted everyone who had any suggestions around here, but so far we haven't had any luck."

She said the bees were dislodged from their hive in the backyard when wind blew it over. "now they've taken up residence in the bedroom walls."

Mrs. Endean, mother of seven, said the suggestions about getting rid of the bees include a plan to fumigate the house with cyanide gas.

"But this doesn't sound so good because some of the gas might remain in the walls and harm the children," she said. "I hope someone who would like some bees would come and get them."

"We will be glad to see them go, whether it's alive or dead," she added.

Van Doren Pulls Out Of New Panel Show

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP) — The channel swim.

Charles Van Doren was forced to pull out of the panel of the new Jack Barry quizzer, "High Low," because of a sponsor conflict. "High Low" is sponsored by Ford and Charlie will work for General Motors "Wide Wide World" next season. Charlie's younger brother, John, will pinch-hit when "High Low" bows in on NBC-TV July 4.

William Ewald

Robert Q. Lewis is on the mend after minor surgery. He should be sprung from the hospital in time for his Tuesday CBS radio show. Perry Como decided to drop out of the upcoming NBC-TV spec, "The Pied Piper of Hamlin." Van Johnson will take over Perry's role.

Interview With Tito

CBS-TV set aside 90 minutes this Sunday for a 50-minute Ed Murrow interview with Marshal Tito. The remaining 40 minutes will be taken over by a panel of newsmen who'll dissect the interview. Murrow missed his "Person To Person" show last week because of his trip to Yugoslavia.

The Spike Jones Show, scheduled to die this week, got a reprieve through Aug. 27. "Studio One" is mulling over a TV version of "War of the Worlds"—the radio show that Orson Welles scared the country with back in 1938.

The power of TV: Earlier this season, Bergen Evans and the panel of CBS-TV's "The Last Word" criticized the grammar of the cigarette that "tastes good like a cigarette should." This week, the ad agency which coined the slogan decided to change it to "as a cigarette should."

Reiner Writing Book

Carl Reiner, second banana on the defunct Sid Caesar Show, is writing a book. He turned down an offer to direct the Phil Silvers TV show next fall. The Atomic Energy Commission asked ABC-TV to forward a print of the recent Walt Disney TV show, "Our Friend the Atom."

The July 8 "Bold Journey" show on ABC-TV, which deals with a canoe expedition to the Arctic Circle, cost the life of one member of its crew, Arthur Moffat. Moffat, leader of the expedition, died of exposure after his canoe capsized. His widow will get a fat fee from the show.

And this quickie definition of someone who turns his TV set on too loud at night—"a neighboor."

'Silent Service' Show Debuts on Station Tomorrow

A new television film series that packs the high drama of "Victory at Sea," and the documentary value of the classic pair, "Crusade in Europe," and "Crusade in the Pacific," will make its appearance on KDKA-TV tomorrow at 11 p. m.

Known as "The Silent Service," the series will bring to light the dramatic experiences of the Navy submarine forces during the war. Based on combat film from the files of the U. S. Naval Photographic Center, the episodes contain a total of 62,000,000 feet of authentic navy film, including captured films from all theaters of combat of World War II and Korea.

Additional action scenes, filmed in waters off the coast of California, dramatize the little known story of officers and men in the U. S. Navy.

The series was produced with the cooperation of the U. S. Navy and was created and written by Rear Admiral Thomas M. Dykers, U. S. Navy (Retired) who also narrates the program.

Five Day Forecast

Western Pennsylvania: Temperature will average three or four degrees below normal. Warm Saturday. Cooler Sunday and Monday. A little warmer Wednesday. Showers and thunderstorms Saturday and again about Monday will average one to two inches.

Your Health—

Real Job of Toothpaste Is to Help Toothbrush

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Which toothpaste is the best for you to use?

Day after day the public bombarded with claims that one dentifrice is better than all the others. You read it in newspaper advertisements. You see it on television commercials. And you hear it on the radio.

So what's the real story?

Well, let me put it this way: Half a century ago, Dr. G. V. Black, the renowned dental scientist, issued a statement which said, in effect

"The real value of a dentifrice is to help the toothbrush do its cleaning job and to induce people to brush their teeth more often."

Now, 50 years later, Dr. Black's statement is, I think, still as accurate as it ever was. The real value of any dentifrice is its abrasive action.

How about all those claims of decay prevention?

The American Dental Association's Council on Dental Therapeutics says it knows of no dentifrice now available that will, of itself, prevent tooth decay or gum disease.

Function of any dentifrice, the council points out, is mainly to help the toothbrush clean the teeth. This is true whether you use paste, powder or liquid. Baking soda, as I have advised you in the past, makes a useful dentifrice.

As pointed out in a very informative article in a recent issue of "Today's Health," published by the American Medical Association, most modern dentifrices now contain a chlorophyll derivative, an antienzyme agent, urea (ammoniated) and perhaps fluoride.

Maybe fluoride has some value in dentifrices. At least this and the other ingredients I've just mentioned won't harm your teeth. Just how valuable they really are is something only time will tell.

Episcopal Rector Gives Ideas On Current Religious Revival

(In the following dispatch, one of the nation's best known clergymen appraises the depth of the current religious revival and the role of evangelists like Billy Graham. The author is rector of Calvary Episcopal Church, Pittsburgh, and has written many books and articles on religion.)

By DR. SAMUEL M. SHOEMAKER

Whenever a group of ministers or thoughtful lay people get together these days, somebody is likely to raise the question whether we are experiencing a genuine spiritual awakening in America.

The statistics concerning religion seem highly encouraging. Church membership has risen to a record high. In most places there is an increase in church attendance. There are more religious programs on radio and TV than ever. There are more articles about religion in newspapers and magazines.

But do these things indicate any general spiritual awakening, in any sense comparable to the authentic Christian awakening associated with such names as Wesley or Moody?

For myself, I think that the mark and test of a genuine Christian awakening is found in the scriptural text: "Repent ye therefore, and turn again, that your sins may be blotted out, that so there may come seasons of refreshing from the presence of the Lord." This puts repentance first, and revival second. There can be, as I see it, no genuine Christian awakening which does not begin in a sense of need in people.

Love Over Guilt

I do not believe that true Christianity ever attempts to fill people with guilt; I think it reports to them that over this universe is a God of love and of judgment, who cares for man and who makes demands upon him for his loyalty. The very hearing of this message of the Gospel deepens in us the sense of our own hopelessness and helplessness to manage our lives or to effect our salvation.

When we realize that we have been content with this situation, or are willing now to let it go on, there does arise a sense of guilt that is quite inevitable. The moment we begin to repent, the forgiveness which the Gospel holds out to us offers hope. This repentance cannot be mere remorse, nor can it be a light emotion of a passing moment. It is real when it means we realize we need redemption. It is the first step in Christian conversion when it troubles us until we seek relief and release in the forgiveness and redemption of God through Christ.

Where this true version of the Gospel is being preached, and people are being influenced by it, I think we have true spiritual awakening.

I have no hesitation in saying that I think Billy Graham is the human instrument of a very real and genuine spiritual awakening. And there are many others who are in the same authentic tradition.

Real awakening always gets into touch with the outsiders, the unbelievers and the indifferent. It gets in the air. People who have been indifferent for years realize they are missing something.

Following The Crowd

Some of this is a sheepish following of the crowd: some is more than that. But you may start by following the crowd and wind up with a faith you never had before.

Awakening also goes for the insiders, the church members, the conventional folk who are already more or less religious. They begin to discover that they are serving God with their lips, maybe with their hands, but not with their hearts. They begin to realize that Pharisees are not an ancient sect within the Jewish fold, but a type to be found in every age and religion; and the real Pharisees are those blind to their own faults, selfishness and complacency.

All of us who make any profession of religion at all have in us something of the Pharisee (as do those who stay out of the church because "it is so full of hypocrites"—if that isn't holier-than-though, I'd like to know what is.)

So true awakening affects both the world and the church. In such a climate, they may, for the first time, shake hands and understand one another.

There are actually more pyramids in Mexico, built by the Aztecs, than there are in Egypt.
